JULIA MAE (Pommert 1953)

A soft pale rose pink in the 460 class. Somewhat similar to the variety, C. D. Fortnam, but a much better glad in all respects. Will open 8 to 9 four to five inch florets with up to 22 buds. Height up to 66 inches with a 24 to 28 inch flower head. A tall wiry spike and an excellent keeper, opening well from a tight bud. Early midseason bloomer and a rapid propagator. A grand commercial for cut flower purposes. We rated Julia Mae the highest of any new varieties in our 1953 test plot. When Pommert introduces a new variety, you can bank on it being tops.
